MISSIONARY vs. POET.

Campbell the poet, and Campbell the missionary, both deservedly stood high in the estimation of their countrymen. The former tells the following good story of himself:

Calling at an office in Holborn for some information I was in want of, the mistress of the house, a sensible, well informed woman, invited me to take a seat in the parlor, her husband would be at home instantly, but if I was in a hurry she would try to give me the information required.

Well, I was in a hurry, as usual, thanked her much received the information, and was just wishing her good morning, when she hesitatingly asked, if I would kindly put my name to a charity subscription list.

'By all means,' and putting on my glasses, I wrote T. Campbell and returned it with an air of a man who had done something handsome. 'Bless me,' said she in a whisper, looking at the name, 'this must be the grea' Mr. Campbell! Excuse me sir, but may I just be so bold as to ask if you be the celebrated gentleman of that name?'

'Why, really ma'am, no,'—[yes, said my vanity]—'my name is just as you see, T. Campbell,' making her at the same time a handsome bow. 'Mr. Campbell,' she said, advancing a step, 'very proud and happy to be honored with this unexpected call. My husband is only gone to 'change,' and will be so happy to thank you for the great pleasure we have had in reading your most interesting work—pray take a chair.

This is a most sensible woman thought I, and I dare say her husband is a man of great taste and penetration. 'Madam,' said I, 'I am much flattered by so fair a compliment,'—laying the emphasis on 'fair.' 'I will wait with pleasure; but in the meantime, I think I forgot to pay my subscription.' She tendered me the book and I put down just double what I intended. When had I ever so fair an excuse for liberality? 'Indeed,' resumed the lady smiling, 'I consider this a most gratifying incident; but here comes my husband.

'John, dear, this is the celebrated Mr. Campbell!'

'Indeed!'

I repeated my bow, and in two or three minutes we were as intimate as any three persons could be. 'Mr. Campbell,' said the worthy husband, 'I feel greatly complimented by this visit, accidental though it be.'

'Why, I am often walking this way,' said I, 'and I will drop in now and then, just to say how d'ye do.' 'Delighted, Mr. Campbell delighted. Your work is such a favorite with my wife there; only last night we sat up till one o'clock reading it.'

'Very kind indeed, very. Have you the new edition?' 'No, Mr. Campbell, ours is the first!' What thinks I to myself, forty years ago; this is gratifying, quite an heirloom in the family. 'Oh, Mr. Campbell,' said the lady, 'what dangers—what—what—you must have suffered! Do you think you will ever make Christians of them horrible cannibals?'

'No doubt of that my dear,' said the husband triumphantly, 'only look what Mr. Campbell has already done.'

I now felt a strange tingling in my ears, but recollecting my 'Letters from Algiers,' I said, 'Oh yes, there is some hope of them Arabs yet.' 'We shall certainly go to hear you next Sunday, and I am sure your sermon will raise a handsome collection.'

By this time I had taken my hat and walked hastily to the threshold.

'Mr. Campbell are you ill!' inquired my two admirers. 'No not quite, only thinking of them horrible cannibals!' 'Ah! no wonder—I wish I had said nothing about them.'

'I wish so too: but my good lady: I am not the celebrated Mr. Campbell.'

'What! not the great missionary!' 'No:' and so saying I returned to my chamber: minus a guinea and a head shorter than when I left.—Georgia Bee.

"ANSWER A FOOL ACCORDING TO HIS FOLLY."

A few years since a friend of mine being on a journey, called at a country inn to feed his horse. On entering the bar-room—the only room in which he could find a fire—he found a motley company collected, who had evidently been exciting their courage and keenness by the inspiring influences of the bottle. Nothing is so common a subject of conversation after men have been drinking as religion. I suppose it is owing to the fact their courage is then screwd up One of them was declaring his creed. He believed there was no hell! And all professed to believe their conduct in this life would have no influence in the next! This was very evident. At length one, who seemed to be the mouth-piece for the rest, took the dangerous ground that he could give a reason for the unbelief that was in him. At this my friend, who had sat silently warming himself, turned suddenly to the boaster and with great gravity said, 'Do you say sir, that you do not believe in the existence of a God, a heaven or a hell?'

'Yes, I do. I don't believe in any of them. Such nonsense may do to frighten children and old women with, but no philosopher or man of sense will believe them.'

'Pray, why do you not believe in their existence?'

'Because I never saw them, and I don't believe anything I never saw.'

'Indeed! did you ever see your own brains?'

'Why—why—I don't say that I ever did; but why?'

'Well sir, according to your own creed, you have no brains, and I suppose that the same night that a rat ate them out during your sleep, he left the cavity to be filled with pumpkin seeds.

The foolish creature was silenced, and the meeting was broken up.

GOOD SOCIETY.—It should be the aim of young men to go into good society. We do not mean the rich, the proud and fashionable, but the society of the wise, the intelligent, and good. Where you find men who know more than you do, and from whose conversation one can gain information, it is always safe to be found. It has broken down many a man by associating with the low and vulgar; where the ribald song was sung, and the indecent story told, to excite laughter and influence the bad passions. Lord Clarendon has attributed his success and happiness in life, to associating with persons more learned and virtuous than himself. If you wish to be respected; if you desire happiness and not misery, we advise you to associate with the intelligent and good Strive for mental excellence and strict integrity, and you never will be found in the sinks of pollution, and on the benches of retailers and gamblers. Once habituate yourself to a virtuous course, and secure a love of good society, and no punishment would be greater, than by accident to be obliged for half a day to associate with the low and vulgar.

STEADINESS OF PURPOSE. In whatever you engage pursue it with a steadiness of purpose: as though you were determined to succeed. A vascillating mind never accomplished anything worth naming. There is nothing like a fixed steady aim. It dignifies your nature and ensures you success. Who have done the most for mankind? Who have secured the rarest honors! Who have raised themselves from poverty to riches! Those who were steady for their purpose. They move noiselessly along, and yet what wonders they accomplish: They rise—gradually, we grant, but surely. The heavens are not too high for them, neither are the stars beyond their reach. How worthy of imitation!

KNOWLEDGE. One of the most agreeable consequences of knowledge is, the respect and importance which it communicates in old age. Men rise in character often as they increase in years; they are venerable from what they have acquired, and pleasing from what they can impart. If they outlive their faculties, the mere frame is respected for what it once contained; but with uneducated women, when youth is gone, all is gone. No human creature gives his admiration for nothing, either the eye must be charmed or the understanding gratified. A woman must talk wisely or look well. Every human being must put up with the coldest civility, who has neither the charms of youth, nor the wisdom of age.

Little Graves.—Sacred places for pure thot's and holy meditations are the little graves in the church yard. They are the depositories of mothers' sweetest joys—half unconscious buds of innocence—humanity nipped by the frost of time, ere yet a single canker worm of pollution had nestled among its embryo petals. Callous indeed must be the heart of him who can stand by a little grave side and not have the holiest emotions of the soul awakened to the thoughts of that purity and joy which be long alone to God and Heaven: for the mute preacher at his feet tells him of life begun and life ended, without a stain; and surely if this be vouchsafed to mortality, how much purer and holier must be the spiritual land, enlightened by the sun of infinite goodness, whence emanated the soul, brief sojourner among us! How swells the heart of the parent with mournful joy, while standing by the cold earth bed of lost little ones! Mournful because a sweet treasure is taken away: joyful because that precious treasure glitters in the diadem of the Redeemer.

'Why are you like an annual, my dear?' said a saucy lover, as he pulled Harriet into his lap.

'I do not know.'

'Why, because you are handsomely bound.'

'Indeed!' said Miss Harriet. 'Why then, am I like a law book!'

'Really I cannot tell.'

'Because I'm bound in calf.'

'AN OLD MAN WOULD BE WOOING'

A foolish old man would take to his arms
A young and beautiful maid—
'O how the world when viewing your charms,
Would praise my wisdom, he said,

They'd praise your wisdom! ah, very true!
Cried the maiden, 'and that were fine,
But then dear sir when they look at you
O, what would they say of mine?'

McCRACKEN'S EXPERIENCE

Tell us about that fight, Jo.

Why you see, boys, it was one of the tightest places I ever was in—[Jack give us a light will you?] I never seed pecizactly as many men around one poor fellow afore I an I would'nt a cared much then ef it had ben in a place what I knowed the ropes, but I never had seen Louisville, but somehow, I thought ef I was to get an to a fight, I'd show some of them chaps that McCracken could put in some right tall licks. So I takes off my homespun rolls up my sleeves, when all at once suthin struck me—

Who was it?

Why, I'd noticed a tall feller on the outside of the crowd pick up a rock but it wasn't him for he threw it down again another fellow, a Major something, had an eternal big hickory stick in his fist, and—

Was it the Major!

No I don't believe it was, as he'd walk'd away before the skurmage commenced didn't see him any more beside he didn't look like a man what would maltreat a stranger but as I was sayin,' suthin struck me—

Whereabout did it hit you, Jo!

On the head. As I was sayin I had just got myself peeled, and had sort o' singled out a popeyed looking feller jest afore me and was thinkin to myself you'er my mut sure when suthin struck me—

Did it knock you down'

Hold on fellers don't be in such a squimption—no it didn't knock me down, but—

Sort o' staggered you!

No—can't say it did much but as I was a sayin the pop-eyed feller looked as ef he thought he was about to ketch the orfullest cownalogin he'd ever seed in his born days and I'd jest doubled up these pertater grabbers calculatin to plant one of em on the tip of his nose and knock both his eyes back inter natural position; when as I said before suthin struck me—

Was it the pop eyed feller!

No sir ee! I knu'd from his build I was a quicker motioned man an he was and had jest sort o' set my upper lip stiff and drawed in a long breth when suthin struck me—

Well, what was it?

Why, an idea that I'd better be a makin tracks from them diggins fast and boys ef you'd only ben about that that morning you'd a seed old McCracken a makin the fastest time for two miles and a little better as ever was made in Jefferes! who'd and if youve got any more of that baldface pour it out!

WASHINGTON CITY D. C.

SATURDAY FEBRUARY 16 1850,

THE NATIONAL ERA—SLAVERY.

This is the organ of the pious gentlemen who are engaged to put down sin, viz. Slavery in the United States. The gentlemen [we mean the new School Presbyterians, alias the descendants of the 'Pilgrim Fathers,' always and no other—the tract, missionaries, and all its money and power-getting schemes,] having established a paper, the Era, at the seat of Government to apprize them of what is going on in Congress, and to serve as a check to members who dare to expose, or resist the movements of this dangerous party. He is apprising his friends in his last paper of the following information:

"NEW YORK AND THE TERRITORIAL QUESTION.—We have published all, or nearly all the resolutions of instruction on the Slavery question which have been proposed in the State Legislature—making very little comment upon them, but watching with solicitude the approaches to a conclusion.

We will not permit ourselves to doubt that the instruction which New York will send to Washington will be every way worthy of her free people. After politicians have exhausted themselves in defining their positions, and refining upon questions of power, we trust that the State will be permitted to be heard.—What the sentiment of New York is, no intelligent man doubts. It has been expressed for a series of years in this form of legislative instructions and in the declarations of Conventions of all parties. It is to be found in every community, in every schoolhouse, in every church, and at every fireside. It is—abhorrence of the institution of slavery, hostility to its extension, and the determination to free the Government from all responsibility for its existence. Legislative resolutions that fall short of this, [instructive irresolutions rather, in which treason at Washington will find its encouragement] may express the sentiments of individuals, the theories of politicians, the necessities of party leaders, but by every word that they fail to convey this feeling of abhorrence to slavery, they misrepresent and betray the sentiment of the people."

To "put down sin," [this is their proposition,] or in other words to convert the wicked to righteousness. But Slavery is a sin, therefore it must be put down. But to put down sin, three things are indispensable, viz. 'Faith, Hope, and Charity;' "but the greatest of these three is charity," vide the gospel of Christ. We challenge the gentleman to point out either the language or the principles of these heavenly virtues in the quotation above. Far from it; but hear him—"Legislative resolutions that fall short of this, [instructive irresolutions, rather in which treason at Washington will find its encouragement] may express the sentiments of individuals, the theories of politicians, the necessities of party leaders, but by every word that they, the instructions of the N. Y. Legislature fail to convey this feeling of abhorrence to slavery, they misrepresent and betray the sentiment of the people."—This is not the way to put down sin.

"Treason at Washington" is doubtless meant for members of both houses of Congress.—'Quite moderate, "considerin," 'murderers and man stealers." The New York legislature, likewise ought to feel under great obligations to Dr. Bailey, or to the author, whom we believe to be the same man who wrote the Pastoral letter, upon which Dr. B. keeps silent.

The Doctor has strong traits of the gentle man about him, and has an open friendly countenance. But such daring impudence, as 'by every word,' mark that. Every word must accord with their opinion—must it? then the Legislature of the greatest State in the Union is to have no opinion of their own; if they do, they are ranked with traitors! 'by every word ☞ that they fail to convey this feeling of abhorrence to slavery, they misrepresent and betray the sentiment of the people." ☜ And what then Doctor? Why hang them as traitors to be sure. This must be the inference—if he does not mean this, what does he mean? The legislature of N. Y. had better order a committee to search the basement of the Capitol previous to taking the vote, the threat would seem to smell of gun powder. But who are the people? Does the gentleman call those ignorant fanatics the people? Does he call those fiery bigots who have neither heart nor soul—the people? The first being the tools of the latter in the coming bloody contest, as bloody it will be, if it comes at all; for nothing will satisfy a bigot but human blood. May Heaven avert a calamity so dreadful, for of all the wars we read of there is none so savage as civil war.

Again, says this gentleman: "The abhorrence of slavery, it is to be found in every community, in every school house, in every church, and at every fireside, it is abhorrence of the institution of slavery, hostility to its extension, and the determination to free the government from all responsibility for its existence,"—these are big words, "the determination to free the government from all responsibility." See the artifice! in mingling the extension, and the existence of slavery in the same sentence. On the extension they are only 'hostile;' but on its existence they are 'determined.' The man who cannot see there is a deeper game than slavery at risk, in this contest is short-sighted.

But when the Editor says the abhorrence of Slavery exists in every community, church, school, &c. &c. he oversteps the bounds of probability. Had he said 'abhorrence of their fellow man, he would have been correct, not half their number acts as he says. But we beg to know how feelings are to be conveyed from Albany to Congress; we have heard of merchandise and groceries being conveyed from one place to another, and that is all. If the act comes is that not enough? no no: every word in that act must express the "feelings of abhorrence." Go on gentlemen. [The Remainder of the remarks in our next.]

CHURCH AND STATE.

We promised in a former paper to explain to our readers the means used by this party to increase its members in the South and South west. It was mainly through frauds upon the General Post Office, with miner means equally fraudulent. But first to the Post Office.

When travelling through the United States we often saw their Circulars and tracts to a large amount franked to the Post Masters:—Travelling as we did in the mail stages, we would see heavy boxes taken out to lighten the stage, and at other places loads which formerly been left would be reshipped and forwarded. But it is by their impositions on the government that they have become so numerous in the South, and therefore dangerous to the lives and liberty of the people, for there is now little doubt of the Free Soilers, and Church and State being one and the same.

We have received many exposures of their wicked doings, but the following is most to the purpose at this time. The circumstance took place when Arkansas was a Territory, and has been published once or twice before, but is much needed at this time:

"Communication from the Post Office at Helena, A. T.

TO THE EDITOR, of the A. T. Herald.

SIR—Will you be pleased to give this communication a place in your next paper.

New York, February 16, 1834.

Dear Sir,

By return of mail you will confer a favor by sending to us the names of the Ministers of the Gospel of different denominations, Exhorters, Elders, Deacons, and the names of several influential, public spirited and benevolent persons, that we may transmit to your office, for each name you furnish us, one number of a paper containing a circular we wish to send through the State.

Very respectfully yours,
J. N. BOLLES.
J. A. WHITEMARSH,
J. L. BURROWS.

P. S. Please direct your answer to J. N. Bolles, 150 Nassau street, New York city.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE THIRTY FIRST CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Hon Jeremiah Clemens.

Mr. C. is a new member of the United States Senate, and fills the place of the lamented Hon. D. H. Lewis. He is quite a young man to be at once promoted to the distinguished rank he now holds, and has a striking appearance at first sight, and that he is to be one of the lions of the Senate there is no doubt. His physicial and mental appearance will bear him out. He is a tall, stout, manly figure, above the common size and stature, with an evenly proportioned form from head to foot; while his air and movements are marked with ease and dignity, in the absence of all show or affectation. His face is oval, with full manly features equidistant in the outline, and of the medium shade. His touring forehead—unruffled and intellectual, wears an innate shade of modesty which bespeaks depth of thought and composure of mind. His dark liquid eye is full and steady as the sun, with a piercing keenness that indicates a cool firmness of purpose. His independent brow is yet tranquil, and shows a self-poised mind. His countenance and manners display a dignity of character, and those sterling traits which nature alone can bestow, and will outlive time.

We feel much regret that it was not in our power to see more of the new Senators, and had it not been for the gallant Gen. Cass of 'Auld Lang Syne,' we should not hardly have seen Senator Clemens.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Hon. JAMES G. KING.

Mr. King is a new member of the 31st Congress, from New Jersey, and comes in the room of Hon. Dudley S. Gregory.—Mr K. is of middle age, and has the appearance of an active business man, and an accomplished gentleman. He is of common height, with a stout portly figure and graceful in form; His face is rather grecian in the contour—fair and becomingly full, His fine expansive forehead stamped with a native nobility, and betokens a man of generosity and openness of temper. His open brow—soft and yielding, is full of fervor and warmth of feeling. His eye of dark grey, has an uncommon expression, full bright and glowing with the milk of human kindness. His fair classic countenance beams with benevolence and capacity, and is the very emblem of all that is good and high-minded in man.

This gentleman is the son of Hon. Rufus King, well known in this country for the high offices he filled in the General and State governments.

Another disappointment.

Whilst we were paying a visit to our friends at the Capitol last Tuesday, our Printer set up nearly the whole of our type, so that we found it impossible to carry out our remarks upon new members of the present Congress.—But 'there is a good time coming.'

Post Office Frauds cut short too.

AMERICAN (PHILA.) COURIER.

Mr. M'Makin will please pardon us for not publishing his new advertisement last week, at the time it ought to have been done. But such the desire of our visitors to read those fine Weeklies that they stole it, and we had none to go by.

M'MAKIN'S MODEL AMERICAN COURIER,

The Courier is neutral in Politics and Religion and independent on all other subjects of public interest. General Editor, ANDREW M'MAKIN, whose association with, and editorship of the Courier for thirteen years have received the warmest commendation from the Press and the people all over the Union, Associate editor T. S Arthur author of Riches Have Wings Rising in the World Six Nights with the Washingtonians, "Maiden Wife and Mother 'Sweethearts and Wives' Lovers and Husbands,' &c'

The Publisher deems it wholly unnecessary to occupy time and space in further comment of either the moral literary or typographical character of American Courier, it having become proverbial for its chasteness usefulness and general excellence but a few disinterested endorsements may be given as credentials of the Press. viz:

From the "Montreal Transcript.' 'Then the American Courier a better paper is not published in the United States"

From the Boston Mirror. 'the American Courier has blended within its massive columns a combination of all that is choice and elegant in modern literature.

From the 'Warsaw Il. Reporter.'— is emphatically the great Model Newspaper'.

From the 'Thomaston Me. Recorder.'—'It is the paper of all papers in the literary world.'

From the 'N. Y. National Standard.'—"The handsomest paper in the United States."

From the 'Williamsburgh Ohio Hearld.'—'The cheapest newspaper in the world'

From the 'Pittsburgh portestant Unionist.'—'It renders competition utterly hopeless.'

From the 'New Jersy Advocate.'—'It is a Model which very few of us are likely to come up to.'

From the 'Louisiana Me. Democratic Banner.'—"If you want a paper containing a perfect feast of reason and a flow of soul,' subscribe for the American Courier.'

The editor of the American courier feels confident that not a pledge will be required of time to the character of the new paper, other than that it will be a family newspaper, neueral in politics and religion; chaste in morality and moderate but elevated in tone and sentiment. His long connection with the "Saturday courier,'—which, under at least his co editorship, reached the largest similar circulation in the world,—will be ample pledge that every intelligent and respectable family in the land may safely confide in his taste, judgment and energy, with the aid of comparatively unlimited capital, to cater for their mental appetite

The contents of the american Courier.

Among the standard features of the american courier, will be—a new series of 'Washington Legends,' by George Lippard, esq. The 'portrait Gallery' of poets and their poetry—each Biography illustrated, Original domestic tales, by themost distinguished writers of the day. THE SATURDAY EVENING POST UNRIVALLED INDUCEMENTS FOR 1850

A MAMMOTH PAPER.

DEVOTED TO MORALITY, PURE LITERATURE, FOREIGN AND DOMESTC NEWS, AGRICULTURE, SCIENCE, ART AND AMUSEMENT.

This paper contains from one-fourth to one half more than the generality of two Dollar city weeklies.

The Proprietors of the SATURDAY EVENING POST return their cincere thanks to their friends and the public for the patronage extended to them since the enlargement of their paper, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the same. The belief expressed in their last Prospectus, that the POST is destined to take its stand at the very head of the weekly press, is fast becoming realized. The reason of this is in a great degree, to be found in the stand the POST has always taken against the immoral literature of the day. The public have felt, in the language of the North American and United States Gazette, of this city, that "The Post has done much towards correcting the taste of the newspaper reading public."

The proprietors of the Saturday Evening Post, in coming before the public with a new Prospectus, would respectfully solicit attention to what they have done in the past, as a guarantee for their promises of the future. They may safely say that no other paper in America has given to its readers so large and well chosen an amount of all kinds of reading, elegant and useful imaginative and practical, during the last year as the Post. To say nothing of other tales and sketches, what paper has laid before its subscribers during the past year four such novelets as Henery Benson,' 'The child Stealer,' 'Isabel Denison,' and The Deserted Wife?'

And the proprietors of the Post are determined that if possible the coming year shall be even a more brilliant one then the past. To begin with they have already secured the following original contributions, which will be published and other choice pictures of life during the coming year:

The Baymouts. A Novelet by Miss Leslie; author of "Mrs, Washington Potts, &c., &c.

The Bride Of An Evening, A Tale Of Western Life A Novelet, by Mrs Southworth, author of "retribution," 'The Deserted Wife,' &c

The Old Astrologer or, The Prophecy Fulfilled, A Novelet by T S Arthur, author of 'Agnes or the Possessed,' the Child stealer,' &c,

The Belle And the Blue; A Novelet by Caroline Lee Hentz, author of "The Mob Cap," 'Aunt Patty's scrap Bag,' &c,

TERMS.

The terms to single subscribers are 2,00 dols per annum, in advance; 3,00; if not paid in advance. For five dollars in advance, one copy will be sent three years.

TERMS TO CLUBS.

In order to accommodate the large number who wish to take a first class paper, but mistakingly think they cannot afford it, we continue the following low terms for Clubs—to be sent, in the city, to one address, and, in the country, to one Post Office:

A MAMMOTH ENTERPRISE

FAMILY MESSENGER AND NATIONAL GLEANER.

The undersigned having purchased the establishment of Alexanders 'Pictorial Messenger,' and Harding's 'Saturday Gleaner,' intends consolidating both papers and issuing a weekly journal under the above title.

It is designed to make it emphatically what its name implies a Family Newspaper, devoted to all the varied matters which will serve to render it a agreeable and useful weekly visitor.

This popular Newspaper has won its way to a high place in the estimation of the reading puble as Family and News Journal and can boast a patronage such as it seldom acquierd by similar publications.

It will be the design of the proprietors by the introduction of new and attractive features to render it in future more worthy than ever of the favor it has received, and they naturally desire that their enterprice shold be aided by all who desire the prosperity and success of a Literary Journal of elevated character and high more tone.

The approach of the long winter evening will renddr such a paper an agreeable visitor in every family circle and the inducements offered to clubs are such as to justify the hope that active efforts will be made to increase our subscription list in every town and village throughtout the country

Read, examine and compare and then judge whether the "Messenger and Gleaner' is not in an eminent degree, just such a paper as will give a zest to social intercourse, and prove in every respect, an unexceptionable fireside companion.

Besides furnishing choice literary articles, from the most approved authors, whose talents have been secured to enrich the columns of the Family Messenger and Gleaner, the current news will be given upon the latest period of the day of publication, and care will be taken to furnish our agricultural friends with a store of information, together with accurately prepared statements of the prevailing Markets, &c, &c.

It will be our aim to please the tastes of our readers, numbering as they do, thousands upon thousands, and we hope to be so successful in our endeavors, as to merit for "The Family Messenger and Gleaner.' the acknowledgment, on the part of the reading public, that it is not only, the cheapest but the best newspaper in the country.

PROSPECTUS OF THE FRIEND OF YOUTH

A Monthly Newspaper.

Mrs. MARGARET L. BAILEY, EDITOR,

The Friend of Youth will be issnd on the first of every mounth in quarto form, eight pages on fine paper, in neat new type, and with tasteful embellishments.

Our object will be to make the paper an attractive companion for youth. While we please, we shall also aim to form their tastes. In addition to agreeable Stories, Lessons on Natural History, Descriptions of Naturl Scenery, Sketches of Travel, and Notices of New Books for children, we shall converse, with them, in language adapted to their comprehension, about the important events of the present era. We know this is not usually done in such publications, but we think we do not mistake the taste or capacity of young people, when we suppose them to feel some interest in the world they live in, beyond the nursery, the school-room, and the play-ground. It shall also be our care to interest them on all great subjects connected with the well being of mankind. Freedom, Peace, and Temperence, shall receive our weep with the suffering, we hope to awaken in them a generous abhorrence of all wrong, and and an earrest love and reverence for all that is just and pure, and while thus inculcating the lessons of love to man, we can not forget the supreme obligations due to the great Father and Benefactor of all.

We hope to succeed in adapting our paper to all ages of youth, so that while the elder brothers and sisters have a fue share of our attention, the little ones shall not be forgotton. They are our special favorites, and shall be cared for accordingly.

To secure variety of entertainment, we have engaged as regular contributors to our columns, several well-known and distinguished writers, peculiarly qualified to minister to the wants of Youth. Among them, we are at liberty to name—T. S: Arthur and Emma D. E: N. Southworth. In short we hope to make the paper just such a "Friend" as young people will be glad to see, and sorry to part with.

As this Prospectus may reach many o the former friends and patrons of the 'Youth's Monthly Visiter,' a paper which we established and edited for nearly three years at Cincinnati, we cannot forbear expressing the great pleasure it will give us to renew our former intercourse with them. The little children who then received the 'Visitor' as a welcome guest, are now almost grown up men and women. But they will perhaps find some little brother or sister or cousin to whom they may introduce us as an old friend.

The first number will be issued on the first of November.

The terms will be—fifty cents a year for a single copy, five copies for $2, or every person forwarding us four names, with two dollars, shall be entitled to one copy gratis.

It is desirable that the names of subscribers be sent in with as little delay as possible. All communications must be addressed to—

DR TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA

Most extraordinary Medicine in the world

This Extract is put in quart bottles. It is six times cheaper, pleasanter, and warranted superior to any sold. It cured diseases, without vomting, purging, sickening, or deblitating the patient.

The great beauty and superiority of this Sarsaparilla over all other remedies is, while it eradicates disease, it invigorates the body.

IT HAS PERFORMED MORE THAN 15.000 CURES THIS YEAR.

1,000 cures of Rheumatism.

1,000 cures of Dyspepsia.

2,500 cures of General Debility and Want of Nervous Energy,

30,000 Female Complaints, and over 7,000 cures of Diseases of the Blood viz:

Ulcers, scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, pimples on the face, &c., together with nervous cases of consumption liver complaints spleen affections, &c This, we are aware, must appear incredible, but we have letters from physicians and our agents from all parts of the United States informing us of extraordinary cures. R Van Buskirk, Esq., one of the most respectable druggists in Newark, New Jersey, informs us that he can refer to more than one hundred and fifty cases in that place alone. There are thousands of cases in the city of N. York which we will refer to with pleasure, and to men of character well known.

OPINIONS OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Townsend is almost daily receiving orders from physicians in different parts of the Union.

This is to certify that we, the undersigned physicians of the city of Albany, have cinnmerous cases prescribed Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla and beleive to be one of the mato valuble preparations of Sarparilla in the Market.

P H. Puling, M. D. R. B. Briggs, M. D.
P E. Elmendorf, M. D.

Albany, April 1, 1845.

The following is from one of the most respectable physicians on Long Island:

GREENPORT July 19, 1846.

DR. TOWNSENDS—Dear Sir—it is with satisfaction that I have recently witnessed, in several cases the most beneficial results from your extract of Sarsaparilla. Be engaged in the practice of medicine, I have prescribed it in several cases, and never without benefit. In the removal of diseases arising from a deranged state of the disgestive organs, jaundice, &c if far exceeds any thing of the kind ever offered to the public, You will please send me two dozen, &c.

Respectfully yours,
C, S, PRESTON, M D.

UNITED STATES OFFICER.

Capt G W Mclean, Member of the Legislature, and late of the U. S. Navy; has kindly sent us the following certificate. It tells its own story.

RAHWAY Jan. 25 1847.

A year since I was taken with the influenza and my whole system left in a debilitated state. I was induced to try Dr. Townsend's Sarsadpolla.

B after taking two or three bottles, I was very much relieved, and attributed it entirely to the said Sarsaparilla. I have continued taking it, and that I improve every day. I believe it saved my life, and would not be without it under any consideration.

G W. McLEAN.

SCROFULA CURED.

This certificate conclusively proves that this Sarsaparilla has perfect control over the most obstinate diseases of the blood. Three persons cured in one house is unprecedented,

THREE CHILDREN.

DR. TOWNSEND—Dear Sir, I have the pleasure to inform you that three of my children have been cured of the scrofula by the use of your excellent medecine. They were afflicted very severely with bad sores; having taken only four bottles; it took them away, for which I feel myself under deep obligation.

yours respectfully,
ISAAC W. CRAIN, 108 Woost

THE GLOBE,
Congressional, Agricultural, and Literary Newspaper.

The Editors of the Congressional Globe propose a new publication. To deserve the patronage which Congress has accorded to their reports of its debates, in receiving and making the Globe the official register, they intend to add promptitude to whatever merit has hitherto recommended the work. They will publish a Daily Globe, to record the proceedings and debates as they occur, and a Congressional Globe periodically as heretofore, embodying the reports of Congress separate from the miscellaneous matter which will accompany them in the daily print. To fill the sheet of the daily newspaper, it is designed to gather the news from all quarters, and complete the contents by drawing from every source what ever may be of most interest among literary novelties, and of greatest utility in science, art, or agriculture. For material the leading journals and periodicals of France and Great Britain, treating of such subjects will be consulted and it is hoped, advantageously used. Original essays, especially on topics connected with agriculture, wil be obtained from the most enlightened land practical men of our country.

The Globe as a newspaper, and as a vehicle of information and amusement in other respects will be under the charge of Francis P. Blair and James C. Pickett. The Congressional department and business concerns of the paper will be under the management of John C. Rives. The public are familiar with Blair and Rives as connected with the press. In introducing Mr Pickett as one of the concern they will be allowed to say a few words of him. He is a gentleman favorably known to the Government, for the talent and judgment which distinguished his diplomatic service while connected with the mission to Quito, and more recently when Charge d'Affaires to Peru. From him mainly the Globe will derive the selections and translations from the foreign continental journals and periodicals, the comments on them and the other literary articles which will be found among its chief attractions. F. P. Blair will give his attention principally to the English periodicals.

The Globe will be published daily during the session of Congress and weekly the balance of the year and will undergo distribution in the form of a Weekly Globe, a Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The Weekly Globe will contain agricultural and miscellaneous articles.

The Congressional Globe will embody as it has done for the last sixteen years. Congressional proceedings and debates exclusively.

The Appendix will embrace the revised speeches separately and the messages of the President of the United States and the reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments.

The Congressional Globe and appendix will be published as fast as the proceedings of Congress will make a number. Subscribers may expect one number of each a week during the first four weeks of a session and two or three numbers of each a week afterwards, until the end of the session.

Complete indexes to the Congressional Globe and appendix, will be sent to subscribers soon after Congress adjourns.

TERMS.

For one copy of the Daily Globe daily during the session of Congress, and weekly during the recess, a year, $5 00

For one copy of the Weekly Globe one year, 2 00

For one copy of the Congressional Globe during the present session, if subscribed for before the first of January, 1 00

For one coppy of the Appendix during the present session, if subscribed for before the first of January, 1 00

For six copies of either the Congressional Globe or the appendix, or part of both, 5 00

The subscription for the Congressional Gobe or the Appendix after the 10th of January will be $1 50. The original price of one dollar does not pay the expense of the publications in consequence of the great increase of matter published.

BETTER AND CHEAPER THAN EVER!!!
NEVER IN THE YEAR
A NEW PAPER MAMMOTH SIZE
Reduced price, Increased Beauty.
AND AUGMENTED INTEREST!!

The undersigned having purchased the disputed claim on the old Saturday Courier, and being determined not to be surpassed in the competition among the press For popularity beauty and excellence, will now combine the unrivaled and unapproachable material of the old paper, with the renewed energy enterprise novelty and spirit of a new one and will issue, on the 11th day of March, 1848 in the city of Philadelphia the first number of a new weekly Newspaper, of the very first and largest class, entitled

M'MAKIN'S MODEL,
AMERICAN COURIER
Published and edited by ANDREW M'MAKIN
Now editor of the Saturday Courier.

Assisted by a gentleman, universally acknowledged as one of the most talented and popular writers of the age.

The farmers Department, of the Courier will be edited. It is expected, by the most distinguished Agriculturist in the united States whose name will be announced as soon as the pending negotiations are contempleted.

THE AMERICAN COURIER

Will contain the amount of eight more columns of matter than does the "Saturday Courier," and it will be conducted strictly on the CASH PRINCIPEL, will, with all its Artistic and literary improvements, be offered at a much reduced price to "Clubs,"

The editor of the american courier feels confident that not a pledge will be required of time to the character of the new paper, other than that it will be a family newspaper, neueral in politics and religion; chaste in morality and moderate but elevated in tone and sentiment. His long connection with the "Saturday courier,"—which, under at least his co editorship, reached the largest similar circulation in the world,—will be ample pledge that every intelligent and respectable family in the land may safely confide in his taste, judgment and energy, with the aid of comparatively unlimited capital, to cater for their mental appetite

The contents of the american Courier.

Among the standard features of the american courier, will be—a new series of 'Washington Legends,' by George Lippard, esq. The 'portrait Gallery' of poets and their poetry—each Biography illustrated, Original domestic tales, by themost distinguished writers of the day. Original essays, sketches, poems, and letters on useful and important subjects. engraved views of persons, scenes and things of interest Select tales from the best english and american authors. The "Modern Spectator, in wich it will be designed to

"eye nature's walk, shoot Folly as it flies and catch the manners living as they rise

Together with every useful novelty that ingenuity, skill and talent can advise.

THE FARMERS DEPARTMENT will immediately take and maintain an originality and value not approachable by any family journal in the land the editor having engaged several writers of known and acknowledged ability to furnish practical articles on model farming.

The markets, news and gossip of the day will be objects of special care in detail, and nothing will be left undone by mind or money.

TO THE FRIENDS OF "THE PLOUGH LOOM, AND ANVIL."

POPULAR as this journal is, and so far successful beyond any heretofore established, its income is yet something short of paying its own expenses, leaving the editors to live on air or hope, neither of which is very substantial deit. Now, as we believe that we have not a friend who would willingly see the man want bread who has been more than thirty years teaching others how to make it, we at once frankly solicit our present patrons to use their influence to average one more subscriber each, and then "the Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil," and those who are working at it, will be doing what is commonly called a safe business, and not until then. We are truly sorry to be under the necesity of making this appeal, for, could we afford it, we would rejoice, as on past occasions. to show that we would most willingly work as hard, gratuitously for the great industrial interests of the country, as we are now doing in the hope of at least a scanty support.

P. S. We shall not fail to note the favor if any kind brother Editor should give this a place in his paper to help along one of the oldest of the fraternity.
